Dog licensing requirements in Delaware moving to county control

ADVISORY: Effective January 1, 2010, residents of New Castle, Kent and Sussex Counties must now license your dog(s) in your county of residence.

The State of Delaware has transferred the responsibility of dog licensing and dog control to each County beginning January 1, 2010. The Division of Fish and Wildlife, Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control, at the direction of the Delaware General Assembly, has worked with New Castle, Kent and Sussex Counties for the past three years to affect the transfer of dog control and licensing responsibilities.

Beginning January 1, 2010, residents of each County will now purchase their licenses from their County of residence. Licenses will be valid Statewide regardless of the County of residence. City of Wilmington residents continue are exempted from having to purchase a New Castle County Dog License, but as in the past are required to purchase a City dog license.

Licenses purchased from the State of Delaware will be valid through the expiration period and upon expiration, dog owners will be required to purchase the appropriate County license.
